

What Is Claimed Is:

1. A method of using one or more layers of medical wrap in a continuous form, wherein said wrap is a rolled form comprising transversely located weakened attachment points positioned throughout said roll, whereby
5 said roll may dispenses multiple sheets at once.

2. A method of using a medical wrap in a continuous form as in claim 1, wherein said roll is housed in a dispensing means.

3. A method of using a medical wrap in a continuous form as in claim 2, wherein said dispensing means is a box.

10 4. A method of using a medical wrap in a continuous form as in claim 3, wherein said box comprises a serrated outer edge.

5. A method of using a medical wrap in a continuous form as in claim 1, wherein said roll is adjoined to a table.

15 6. A method of using a medical wrap in a continuous form as in claim 1, wherein said roll is used with mechanical cutting means.

7. A method of using a medical wrap in a continuous form as in claim 6, wherein said cutting means thermally seals the cutting edge.

20 8. A method of using one or more layers of medical wrap in a continuous form, wherein said wrap is in fan-folded form comprising transversely located weakened attachment points positioned throughout said fan-folded form, whereby said fan-folded form may dispense multiple sheets at once.

9. A method of using a medical wrap in a continuous form as in claim 8, wherein said fan-folded wrap comprises transversely located weakened attachment points positioned throughout said wrap.

25 10. A method of using one or more layers of medical wrap in a continuous form as in claim 1, wherein said wrap is C-folded and wound to be used in a continuous form.